Foreword

And when you look at it, what is a yearbook? It is a record of events, some significant, some not so significant, that go to make up a college year. It is a record of the people that actually make up the college community. It is a book to open in later years, to leaf through, and to say, "These things I remember. . . ."

"Outside please"

A black and white photograph of a cluttered filing cabinet. The cabinet is filled with numerous papers, some of which are sticking out of the drawers. Many of the drawers have small, rectangular name tags attached to them. A hand, wearing a dark suit sleeve, is visible on the left side of the image, pointing towards one of the files. The overall scene suggests a busy administrative or academic environment. At the bottom of the image, the words "FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION" are printed in a bold, sans-serif font, enclosed within a white, rounded rectangular border. The background is dark, making the white text and the light-colored papers stand out. The lighting is dramatic, with strong highlights and deep shadows, emphasizing the texture of the papers and the fabric of the suit. The composition is dense, with the filing cabinet filling most of the frame, leaving little space for other elements. The hand's gesture is a key focal point, drawing the viewer's eye to a specific part of the cabinet. The name tags, though small, are legible and provide a sense of scale and context. The overall mood is one of organized chaos, typical of a busy office or administrative department. The image effectively communicates the theme of faculty and administrative management through its visual representation of a filing system. The use of a black and white palette adds a sense of timelessness and formality to the scene. The rounded rectangle containing the text is a simple yet effective design element that frames the title without distracting from the underlying image. The photograph's high contrast and detailed texture contribute to its visual impact, making it a compelling cover for a directory or administrative manual. The hand's presence adds a human element to the otherwise mechanical scene of the filing cabinet, suggesting active engagement with the information stored within. The overall effect is a clear and professional representation of the subject matter, designed to be both informative and visually appealing. The image's composition and styling are well-suited to its purpose, providing a clear and concise visual summary of the content it represents. The use of a filing cabinet as a metaphor for organization and management is a common and effective one, and this image captures that concept in a highly detailed and visually striking way. The hand's gesture is particularly noteworthy, as it adds a layer of interaction to the scene, suggesting that the information is not just stored but is being actively used and managed. This makes the image more than just a static representation of a filing system; it becomes a dynamic scene that tells a story about the work of faculty and administration. The overall result is a high-quality, professional image that effectively communicates its intended message and serves as an excellent cover for its intended audience. The image's clarity, detail, and thoughtful composition make it a standout piece of visual communication, one that is both functional and aesthetically pleasing. The use of a black and white palette and high contrast further enhances its impact, ensuring that the key elements are easily visible and memorable. The rounded rectangle for the text is a subtle but effective design choice that helps to integrate the title with the overall image without creating a jarring or distracting effect. The final result is a cohesive and professional piece of work that successfully combines visual storytelling with clear communication, making it an ideal choice for a directory or administrative manual. The image's focus on the filing cabinet and the hand's gesture is a powerful visual metaphor for the organization and management of faculty and administrative affairs, one that is both intuitive and visually compelling. The overall effect is a well-crafted and highly effective piece of visual communication that is sure to leave a lasting impression on its audience. The image's detailed and thoughtful composition, combined with its clear and professional styling, makes it a truly outstanding example of visual communication in the field of education and administration. The use of a filing cabinet as a central element is a smart and effective choice, as it immediately conveys the theme of organization and management in a way that is both familiar and visually engaging. The hand's presence adds a crucial layer of human interaction, suggesting that the system is not just a passive storage unit but an active tool for managing the work of the institution. This makes the image more than just a photograph; it becomes a statement about the importance of organization and the role of the administrative staff in supporting the faculty. The overall result is a piece of visual communication that is both informative and inspiring, one that is well-suited to its purpose and its audience. The image's clarity, detail, and thoughtful composition are all hallmarks of a high-quality professional work, and it is clear that a great deal of care and attention went into its creation. The final result is a piece of visual communication that is both functional and aesthetically pleasing, one that is sure to serve its purpose well and leave a lasting impression on its audience. Veritas Liberat — The Truth Frees

Has your Juniata education given you freedom? Have you increased your knowledge, broadened your vision, and become morally sensitive? Are you aware of your ignorance and have you identified your prejudices?

The chief end of Juniata's education is the promotion of the good life, a life filled with meaning and significance. You should be a better person because of the experiences of this college year which you will relive in these pages.

Here you have lived in a community, accepted social responsibility, and been exposed to a cultural inheritance while your mind has pursued truth. We hope that you have a vocational aim but even more we are concerned that your lives are aware of beauty and the rewards of the good life. May these pages bring happy memories and disturbing challenge!

Dean of the College

One of the tests of a good education is how much it enables the student to go on living and learning under his own power. To be sure, a college should help a student to do what he could not do for himself. If each generation had to learn for itself that which the preceding generation knew but did not pass on to the next, we would be much nearer the dark ages than we are.

However, from this state of reliance on his teachers, the really educated man moves on to a state of relative independence. One of the interesting facts of history is how often great men came to differ from their teachers. Aristotle and Plato are but one of the better known instances of this phenomenon. They did not differ for the sake of differing. Pupil and teacher differed because the teacher was more interested in having the pupil develop his powers of independent thought and action than he was in having him parrot the teacher.

One of the marks of the educated man is his capacity for independence—his personal insights into meaning and value, his own ability to reason from givens to conclusions, his power to evaluate the many forces that play upon him throughout life.

To this objective Juniata is dedicated. It is our hope that all who have been our students will grow into this kind of self-reliance.

Dean Penny

Dean of Women

Retrospect — Introspect — Prospect

That's what an Alfarata means to you and to those who have preceded you and to those who will follow. These are records, mostly pictorial, of the past which has culminated in the present, and our imagination leads us from the pictures of the present into the future with all its possibilities for development, successes and satisfactions.

The pictures do not show the changes that have occurred within each one of you, but they are there nonetheless; you are changed individuals from the freshmen of four years ago—prepared and ready to carry the gospel of learning and good will wherever you go. We hope you have learned within Juniata's walls that it is by sharing that we grow, by giving that we receive, and by loving our fellowmen that we develop into our fullest and best. An old proverb says "It never was loving that emptied the heart, nor giving that emptied the purse."

To Dean Penny and to me this Alfarata will ever be a reminder of our "Freshman" year at Juniata, when each day brought something new, a problem or a pleasure, with the hope that in the future we may make ourselves more an integral part of Juniata student life with its satisfying experiences.

Good luck to every member of the class of 1953!

Dean of Men

In talking with prospective Juniata students who have come to our Career Conference weekends, I have been impressed with the lack of understanding many of them have of the purposes and functions of the liberal arts college. Perhaps it is hard for most of us, living in an age which venerates the technician, the specialist, the man of science, to appreciate the values which are inherent in the approach to education and to life typified by the Juniata program.

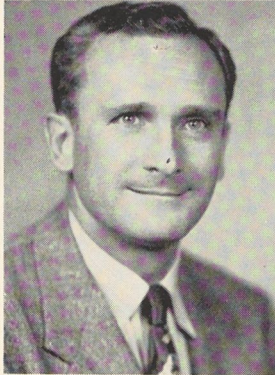

The liberal arts colleges, Juniata among them, are committed to the proposition that the job of education is to train people to live, not just to make a living. Our educational theory makes much of the need to educate the "whole man." During your lifetime the fate of this concept, which we call liberal education, will be decided. As graduates and students of this institution, it should be a part of your civic duty to study, to understand, and to work for the kind of education for which Juniata stands. As your college experience becomes an ever greater "Liberalizing" force in your lives, be firm in your conviction that it can become so in the lives of others as well.

Senior Class

In this our last year at Juniata it is perhaps appropriate to look at the four years—more or less—which most of us have spent here, and to attempt a brief evaluation of our class and our education.

As for any college, Juniata's main raison d'être is to impart knowledge and to develop the capacity to think, and its prime means of doing this is through its teachers. Any student who has not been influenced by any of a great many really outstanding professors has not received the most valuable thing Juniata has to offer. A secondary but by no means unimportant means to this end is through books, and the college's library is excellent for an institution of its size. Juniata is also a Christian College and to the extent it reaches its religious and moral ideals, it will influence any thinking student to live up to the highest that he knows. As a small college it offers the secondary advantages of a friendliness among the students and faculty and an emphasis upon individuality not found in larger institutions. The adequacy of the preparation it gives the student to live in a world filled with tensions and split into two camps over a basic ideological struggle, only time will tell; this writer believes that it is as adequate as any that can be found.

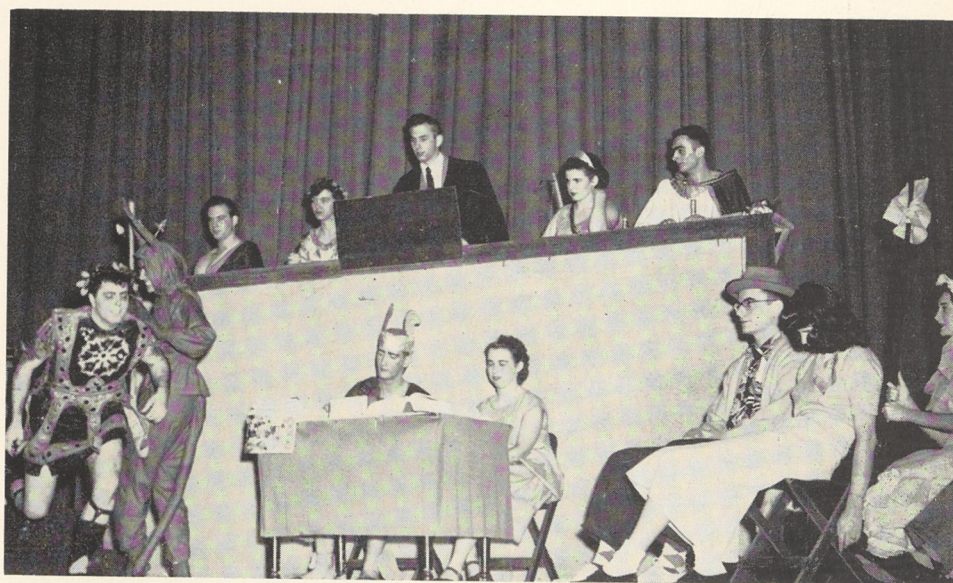

Looking now at the achievements of the senior class, we find that academically several of its members have consistently made the Dean's List, that athletically many of its members have engaged in intramural sports and several of its members have made varsity teams, and its members have always been active in extracurricular activities. The things we have participated in as a class have without exception been marked with enthusiasm. We began as freshmen by beating the sophomores in the traditional Homecoming games and as sophomores we in turn beat the freshmen. We were the first freshman class to achieve an All Class Night victory and, although our subsequent skits failed to take the cup, they were always original and entertaining. None who worked on them will ever forget "Alfarata's Wigman," "The Third Choice," "Forsooken Willie" or "Sic Eunt Fata Hominum. Our dances were always characterized by originality of decoration and enjoyment of those attending. The last thing we do as a class—our commencement—will, I'm sure, leave many of us with the wish that we were again entering Juniata as freshmen.

Junior Class

Looking back over the past eventful year, the Class of '54 can be proud of its accomplishments. To start the ball rolling last fall, the juniors walked off with the leads and many other roles in the all college production, "My Maryland". Following this the juniors worked industriously on the "Modern Odyssey" skit for All-Class Night.

As Homecoming rolled around, Peggy Brumbaugh (also head cheerleader) was chosen queen.

Once again, the junior class was quite in evidence in both the cast and crew of the Masque production, "The Importance of Being Earnest".

The class of '54 has been well represented in all athletic events on varsity and intramural teams. In addition, the juniors have formed a large part of the membership of the A Cappella and Chapel Choirs, and the orchestra and band. Then, too, the Class of '54 found time to work for a JWSF drive and to pool their efforts with those of the other classes for the new Student Center. Last, but not least, they sponsored the Junior-Senior reception in May.

What a change from being the lowly downcast of the school to becoming an almighty sophomore! This is the thought that was uppermost in the minds of the members of the class of '55 upon returning to Juniata this fall. No more upper-classmen to pursue us constantly, no more phone or flag duty. We were free!

Now the tables were turned and it was our turn to initiate the lowly frosh. Under the direction of Pat Henry everyone pitched in to make the initiation a great success. We also won two out of three homecoming contests with the freshmen.

All Class Night came early this year so we had a great deal of hustling to do in order to retain the cup for another year. However, our efforts were in vain, for the freshmen walked off with the trophy.

Within a week before Christmas, a crew of sophomores under Jeanne Snively worked hard and long hours decorating the social rooms for the Christmas holidays.

After the mid-year exams the sophomores started working on their class dance which fell on February 14, therefore enabling the Valentine theme to be used.

It's great to be a sophomore! All eyes are now turned toward the second half of their college education. How could two years pass so quickly?

Freshman Class

Last September over two hundred freshmen entered Juniata College—two hundred new students who had little more in common with each other than their regulation dinks and nametags. Now, at the end of one full year of college life, shared experience has worked its change to bind together as a class this group with widely different members.

Freshmen and upperclassmen alike smile remembering the hectic days of initiation—freshmen girls wrapped in sheets, hair in pin curls—the boys in skirts, sweaters, lipstick, and dangle earrings. Even duck-feet, dunce caps, and mopping Founders porch seem amusing in retrospect.

The satisfying memories of class accomplishments play their part in class unity. There is the remembrance of the dance band—and the memory of the All Class Night competition when the freshmen won the cup with their skit, "And Then There Are Ancestors".

As for regrets, these are much the same as for any class—the studying left to the last minute—the time and opportunities wasted. Perhaps of more importance than the humor, pride, and regrets are the thousand little unclassified experiences that all have shared—homecoming weekend, afternoons in the library with sunshine on the shelves of books, the excitement before vacations, the social rooms at Christmas. By means of these ties, and common experiences, the freshmen have become an integral part of Juniata. However, what is of greater significance is the fact that the college has become an important factor in the lives of these newcomers to our school.

Senate

Government at Juniata is in the hands of the Student Senate, a body of twelve leaders in each phase of campus life, elected by the students. The purpose of the Senate is to correlate the wishes of the students with those of the faculty and administration. It has direct jurisdiction over all areas of student life, whether it be religious, social, or athletic. In matters concerning the faculty and administration senators only make suggestions, many of which are adopted.

During the weekend before fall classes resume, senators and other campus leaders meet with the faculty at Camp Kenesatake to organize plans for improving life at Juniata in the coming year. Problems under discussion this fall included the adoption of an honor system for the women's dormitory and plans for a student center which promises to become the hub of social life at Juniata. Other recommendations were that clubs with similar interests merge and that a faculty committee be appointed to select judges for competitive events during the year.

The Senate also functions in the guidance and approval of club organizations, activities, and funds; the sponsoring of the JWSF drive; the problem of Freshmen integration and many other activities. It is a reflection of the student body; its accomplishments represent the wants and needs of students who have voiced their opinions and who work to put the plans of the Senate into operation.

Leadership Conference: Athletics session.

One of the greatest honors to be bestowed upon any senior at Juniata College is to be selected as a member of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities". This year six of the top members of the graduating class were endowed with this honor. These students were selected by a committee of faculty and administration on the basis of scholarship, leadership, cooperation in educational and extracurricular activities, promise of future usefulness and general good citizenship.

Honor Society

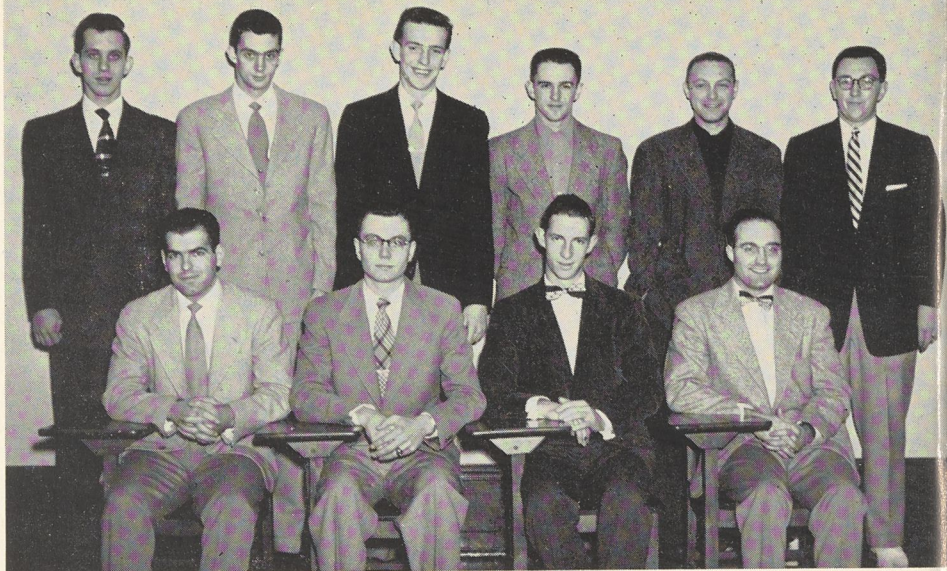

Outstanding students who become members of the Juniata Honor Society have been chosen in consideration of the following qualities: scholarly achievement, moral integrity, and broad cultural interests. In view of these necessary characteristics, the purpose of the Honor Society is clearly to elevate the general scholastic scholarship of Juniata College students. Members of the present senior class who were elected to this organization last year include Ron Cherry, Phyllis Link, Carol Shoemaker, Jack Ulsh and Jack Walter.

Men's House Committee

The Men's House Committee has the responsibility of maintaining and furthering favorable and cooperative living conditions in the men's dormitories. To fulfill this task, the Senate Chairman of Men's House, Dave Bayer, was aided by representatives of the Lodge and the Cloister.

Besides having to regulate dorm life, the committee is also responsible for the appearance of the dorms at times designated as "open house", and to this group belongs the credit for the success of these ventures.

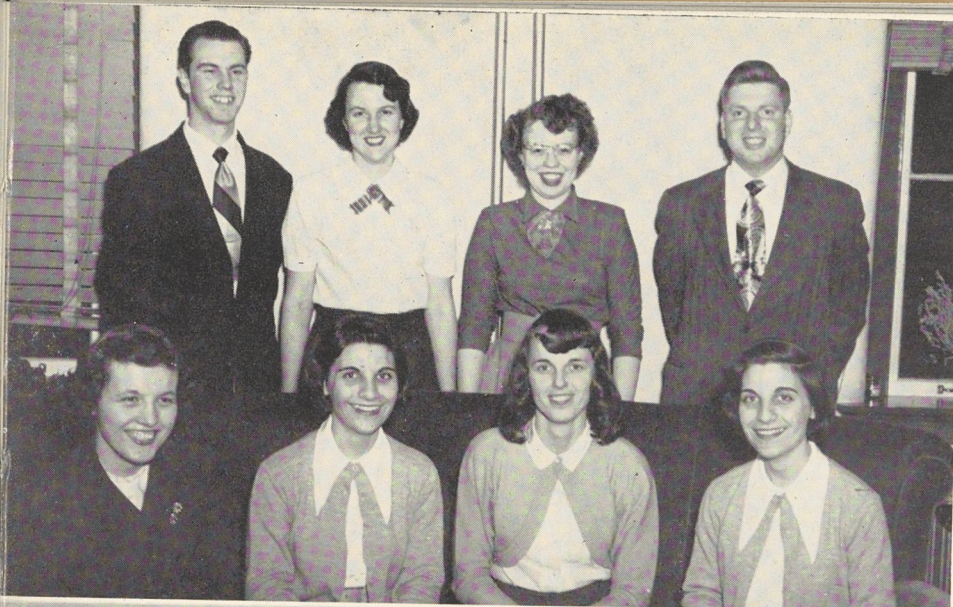

Women's House Committee

The Women's House Committee strives to make the dormitory a resident home by creating and maintaining the best possible living and studying conditions. As in previous years they presided over the Christmas banquet and were the hostesses at the teas during examinations. At the request of the women residents the committee co-operated in the organization of the honor system.

The Women's House has been under the direction of Virginia Yohn and the guidance of Dean Dove.

Social Committee

The Social Committee has the problem of providing entertainment every Saturday night for the Juniata students.

Besides such traditional events as the Sadie Hawkins Party and the Homecoming Dance, the social calendar is filled with class and club parties, movies, and special entertainment. This year the task of providing varied and interesting social functions was delegated to Elizabeth Monks, the chairman of this committee.

Underclass Committee

Headed by the Chairman of Underclassmen, Wesley Diemer, the Underclassmen Committee comprised of juniors and seniors directed the freshmen in the rules and regulations of Juniata College. Offenders were tried by a court and punished by constructive methods. Another function of the committee was to oversee freshmen initiation which is always under the jurisdiction of the sophomores.

Masque

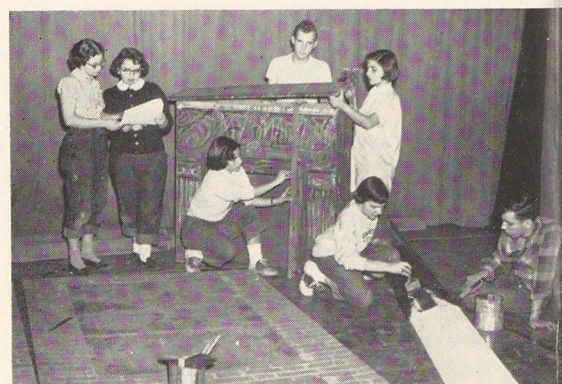

The organization representing drama on Juniata's campus is the well-known Masque. This club is open to anyone on campus; however, in order to become a full-fledged Masquer it is necessary to participate actively in campus drama projects.

The projects of the Masque are extensive. Each year this college-subsidized club presents a play and aids in the production of an annual operetta.

Student Center Committee

This small committee headed by Russ Hill and advised by Dr. Crosby has done most of the foundation planning for the student center. They have divided themselves into two sub-committees—a work committee with John Dale as chairman and a finance committee with Jo Pentz and Allegra Forney as co-chairmen. The main functions of these students were to represent the student body in meetings with the architect, interior decorator, and administration; to direct the student labor; and to work on money-raising projects for the center.

Chemistry Club

Under the leadership of Jack Walter the Chemistry Club again renewed its student affiliation with the American Chemical Society. In November the club played host to the district members of the Society.

With the interest of the chemistry major in mind, the program for this year included field trips to the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Mill in Tyrone, the Prismo plant in Huntingdon and joined with the Scalpel and Probe in a trip to the Merck plant in Danville.

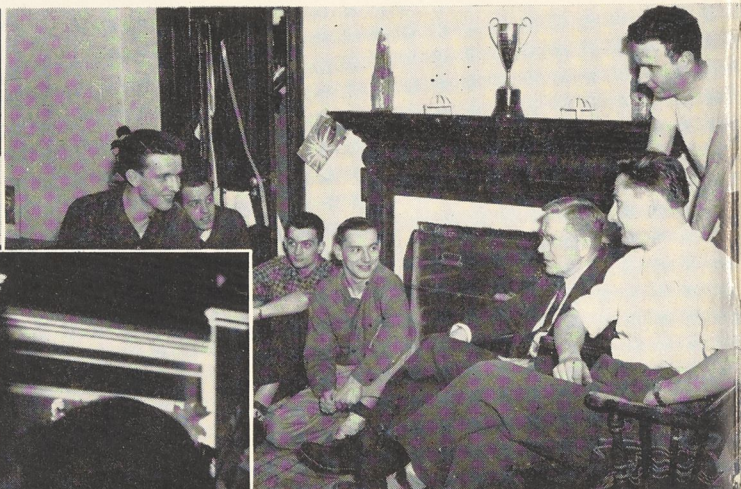

Scalpel and Probe

The highlight of the Scalpel and Probe program this year was the visit to the Lewistown Hospital where the club members had an opportunity to view first hand the precision of the operating room. Among the speakers who were present at the monthly meetings were Dr. Keichline, an X-ray specialist, and Dr. Heist, a member of the Biology Department at Penn State. Thus the biology and pre-med students were able to learn from the club's activities information beyond that acquired in the class room.

Religious Life

As he arrives on College Hill, the typical freshman has hope, head, and heart held high—but he is challenged. In classes, in the dorm, in chapel, in conversation, he is challenged in his beliefs, his creeds, and his philosophies. From these challenges come questions, and with questions—searching, and from searching—answers, not panaceas for all ills, but partial truths, stepping stones to other partial truths.

This then is the responsibility to be met by the religious life of Juniata's campus. Formed under the National Student Christian Movement, the Juniata Christian Association, its cabinet and council, take as their job the puzzling task of how to meet these questionings, how to know when they arise, and how to give partial answers and stimulate their growth.

In the years to come how can we keep from looking back to College Hill and seeing some of the scenes in perhaps a more meaningful way than when we were here. Perhaps upon an occasion that one chapel talk or a single Religion In Life Week speaker will speak to us personally in a situation for which there seems to be no answer. Then will we know most fully the true values of College Hill.

"And if I understand all mysteries and all knowledge, and if I have all faith so as to remove mountains, but have not love, I am nothing."

Juniata Christian Association

Three years ago a group of students and faculty members met together to consider the formation of one religious organization that would absorb the six or seven different groups then on campus. The final result of these many meetings was the Juniata Christian Association.

During the membership drive early this year about one-third of the college community became members. Under the leadership of Donald Bracken, the Senate Chairman of Religious Activities, the J. C. A. sponsored weekly meetings. These Tuesday evening meetings consisted of worship and Bible study, discussion or a guest speaker. The J. C. A. also conducted the President's Bible Class which met every Sunday morning.

To prove that Juniata is not situated on an isolated hill and that she is interested in the surrounding areas, the J. C. A. sent deputation teams to various churches and sponsored a Christmas party for the underprivileged children of Huntingdon.

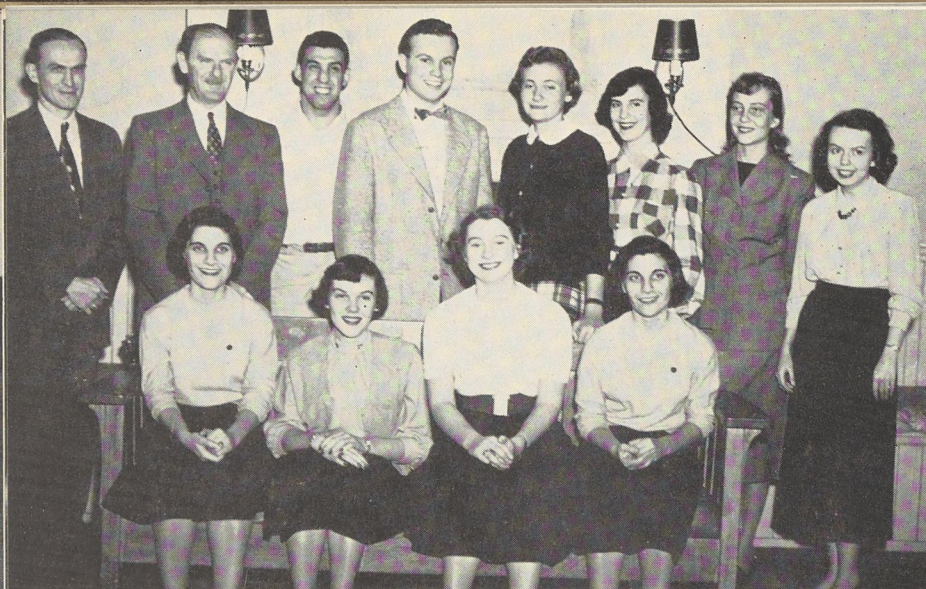

This year Spiritual Life Week was held the week of February 8-13 with Dr. Charles D. Spotts of Franklin and Marshall as our guest minister.

J.W.S.F.

This year, as always, the goal for the Juniata World Service Fund drive corresponded with the year—$1953. The money, which is solicited from the students, faculty, administration, alumni, friends, and the operetta proceeds, goes to four beneficiaries: the World Student Service Fund, the Foreign Student Fund, the Christian University of Tokyo, and two Brethren missionaries.

Pyrenees Club

"Language is the key to learning" is the theme used by the Pyrenees Club. The purpose of the club is to learn more about the culture of Spain and France, and this was accomplished at monthly meetings which featured games, songs, and lectures pertaining to these countries.

Composed of students majoring in Spanish or French and anyone interested in their culture and language, the club has as their major project the sending of CARE packages to Europe during the Christmas season.

Sportsman's Club

The activities of the club were marked this year by the combining of the former Sportsman's Club with the Outing Club. The aim of the club is toward a program of outdoor life to encourage sportsmanship, fellowship, and physical fitness.

Much of the program for the year centered around building and improvements upon the college cabin, Camp To-Ke-Sta, located near Paradise Furnace. The cabin is for the use of the students of JC and the Outing Club has taken the responsibility for rendering it as convenient as possible.

The officers for this year have been, President, Bob Hower; Vice-president, Jack Walter; and Secretary-treasurer, Doris Wilson.

Future Teachers of America

This year the F. T. A. and the Alpha Beta Gamma united to form a single organization for all education majors. The name, Future Teachers of America was retained and the club continued its affiliation with the Pennsylvania State and the National Education Associations.

The aim of the club meetings was both to inform and to entertain. Included among the programs was a talk, "Tall Tales for Teachers", by Dr. R. Patrick of Penn State. Mr. Donald Miller, a well known educator, was the speaker at the December meeting at which there was also Christmas entertainment.

Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship

This year has been a time of expansion in the program and membership for the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, Juniata's non-sectarian religious organization. The purpose of this group is to lead students to a closer relationship with God and a better understanding of the BIBLE's application to our modern lives. The program planned to accomplish this purpose has been broadened to include a girl's dormitory BIBLE study and to aid in the support of a missionary. At the same time the group has continued its weekly meetings and discussions with special emphasis on the book of John.

Alfarata

The "1953" Alfarata has been edited with one main purpose in mind: to cram between these covers all activities both big and small, in a meaningful pictorial record. It is hoped that in the years to come this book will be a reminder of a short but busy year filled with friendship, activities, fun, and study.

This year's Alfarata shows the efforts of a large group of student writers and editors. Striving to increase pictorial pages, the staff hopes this Alfarata will win its place with other Alfaratas in commemorating the years at Juniata.

Scout

Editor Nancy Stephens and her staff on the Scout helped to answer many questions which the bewildered Freshmen asked about the rules and regulations of the college. This small blue book, distributed annually to new students and faculty, contains such vital information as the Alma Mater, songs, cheers, traditions, dormitory rules, and an activities calendar.

Juniatian

Let the presses roll! And with these words, the final product of a hard week's work is at hand—the JUNIATIAN, the campus weekly which records the events, news, and athletics for the Juniata public every Friday.

Fingers worn to the bone by typewriter keys, industrious reporters scurrying over campus to track down the news, midnight hours in the Publications Office which Mac doesn't always appreciate, hectic afternoon sessions at the printers, the editor's losing battle to make Thursday dinner, and always the deadlines—these make the JUNIATIAN.

Intramural action.

J-Club

The J-club, led this year by president Bob Muchoney, put in a useful year of existence as they have done for more years than almost any club on campus. They supplied the Indian during football season, the Tomahawk during basketball season, Booster tags, and the Homecoming dance. The members of the club are Juniata's varsity athletes who carry out their activities to further interest in sports on the Juniata campus.

Women's Athletic Association

A sport for every girl was the theme of the Women's Athletic Association as they again organized a varied program for those coeds interested in intramural sports. Under the leadership of Rhoda Gaugler they planned activities in hockey, basketball, volleyball, and softball.

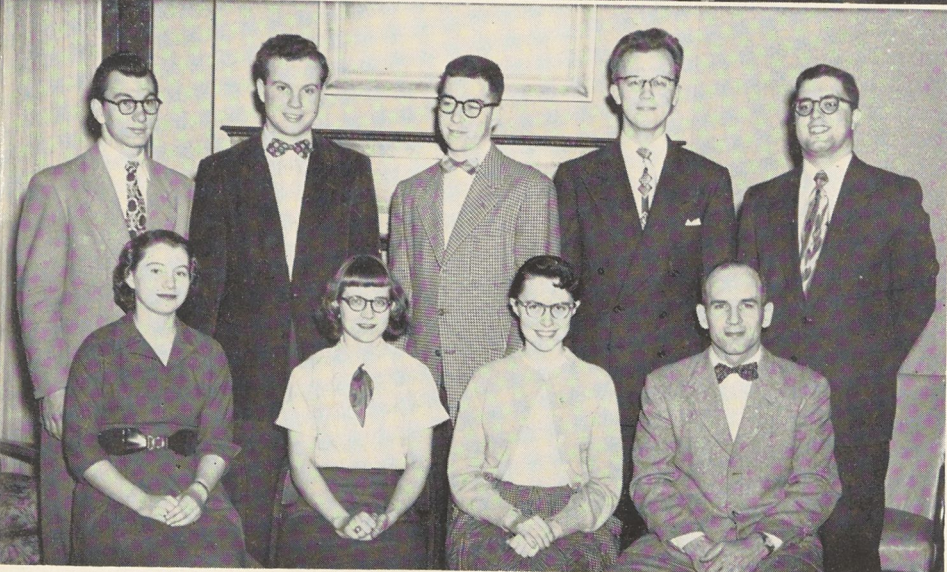

This year as in years past Juniata was represented in Sports Day programs at Pennsylvania College for Women, Penn State, and Lycoming.

Debate Club

The Juniata College Debating Society has completed another year of activities under the guiding assistance of Dr. S. Lees Booth and Miss Miriam Dickey.

The question under discussion this year was: "Congress should enact compulsory Fair Employment Practices legislation". After extensive and careful preparation, the affirmative and negative teams were ready to take on all comers. A number of tournaments were entered during the year including the state tournament at Lehigh.

International Relations Club

The International Relations Club, through a program of education on the affairs of the world, is helping the students of Juniata reach a better understanding of the problems facing our generation. Through talks, discussions, and educational programs the members of the club are given a peek into the situation of international crisis which is present today. The club actively encourages international exchange both on the part of foreign exchange students at JC and by providing a fund for assistance to a student from our campus who may want to travel or study abroad.

Tycoon Club

For the students enrolled in the Department of Economics and Business Administration the Tycoon Club has been organized. Its main objective is to arouse a greater interest in the practical aspects of business.

The organization meets twice a month, having guest speakers who talk on subjects beneficial to the students in this department. Informal group discussions are held and projects are undertaken by the members of the club.

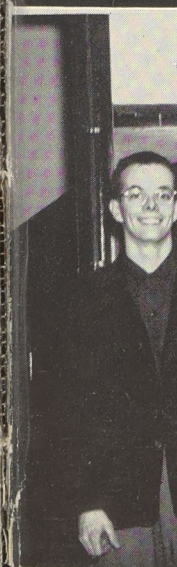

Lambda Gamma

One of the largest and most active clubs on campus is the Lambda Gamma which serves to promote a closer social bond among instructors and girls interested in the Home Economics field.

This year as in the past, the club sent Christmas baskets to the needy people of the community. Another project was the sending of Home Economics textbooks to a former Juniata graduate who is now serving as a missionary in the Philippines. A Saturday evening dance and a fashion show were also part of the year's activities.

Sigma Gamma

The Sigma Gamma is organized mainly for Sociology and Psychology majors. Membership offers them an opportunity to hear about and discuss the different aspects of their fields as well as the possibilities of work experiences following graduation.

As in the past, the meeting featuring trial comprehensives for the seniors was a main attraction. The year's activities were brought to a close by the annual club banquet.

Camera Club

To provide materials for developing films, to teach beginners in photography and to provide photos for campus publications are the aims of the Camera Club. Without this organization Juniata College would be at a loss, for so many times photographs are necessary to publicize events.

The membership of the club may be small but nevertheless this club is one of the most active on campus.

Looks like a class.

Band

The Juniata College Band is the colorful blue and gold marching unit which is responsible for the entertainment of the football fans during half time. In addition to this the band also performs at various other occasions, under the direction of Professor Jack Brammer. Last but not least, the band supplies that necessary downbeat for the pep rallies of the student body.

Cheerleaders

With the vim and vigor of football players, this attractive group led the cheering of the Juniata fans at all the athletic events of the past year. Peggy Brumbaugh was captain of the team which included Nancy Blanck, Nancy McCahan, Edith Talbot, Anna Lee Over, Kay Kellogg, Nancy Nevin, and Kitty Underkoffler.

Orchestra

The lilting melodies and fascinating harmonies which are heard in the vicinity of Swigart Music Hall Wednesday evenings between the hours of seven and nine, proclaim the weekly rehearsal of the Juniata orchestra. Under the baton of Professor Jack Brammer, director, the orchestra performs at various college functions, such as the operetta "My Maryland," as well as staging an annual spring concert.

Dance Band

This year nine freshmen and one junior formed a ten piece dance band. This independent organization and its freshman vocalist, Nancy Nevin, have provided the music for some of the college dances.

Touring Choir

The Juniata College Touring choir, a group of twenty-five voices and seven instruments, is the outstanding choral organization on our campus. Annually, the choir performs on campus, in the surrounding towns, and on an extended tour. The high point of the season is the week-long tour during which the choir this year visited the western section of Pennsylvania and parts of Ohio, presenting concerts in churches, schools, and over the radio.

Although each choir member pays refundable dues, the choir is self-supporting—financing its trip, robes, music, etc. from the money received from the concerts.

Chapel Choir

The Chapel Choir, an on-campus organization which leads the hymn singing and provides choral responses and anthems for the college chapel services, is under the direction of Miss Mary Pfothenhauer.

Each year the choir, assisted by other students on campus, presents a musical pageant of the Christmas story. The choir also participates in the musical program given at the end of the year.

Football

By winning 6 of 8 games, only 3 of which were played at home, the 1952 Juniata grid team went down in the records as the best ever produced on College Hill. In addition, they set a second record by capturing their wins consecutively.

To the outside observer a record of 6 and 2 is not phenomenal and anything less could be grounds for firing the coach; but, to one who knows the story behind those Saturday afternoon thrillers, it turns into something remarkable. It indicates a superb coaching job, a fine team spirit, and the greatest student support ever developed at J.C.

When practice convened in September, there were just 12 returning veterans, 11 of whom were lettermen. This group was further depleted when wingback Fred Hamor fractured his ankle and did not see action until the final two games. The remainder of the squad was composed of 33 freshmen and one sophomore.

WILLIAM R. SMALTZ
Head Coach

To overcome this disadvantage Coach Smaltz designed what became known as the "Smaltz Shift." Lining up in an unbalanced line with the two tackles in the backfield, the Indians shifted into the single, double, or winged-T formation. By this variety of attack the inexperience was partially overcome.

Although the offense was a problem, the defense was an even bigger one; for in this day of two-platoon football, 11 men can not play the full 60 minutes. Accordingly this job fell to the freshmen, who, with the help of linebackers LeFevre and Clapper, made Juniata tough for enemy offenses. Five of J. C.'s six victories may be attributed to stout defense.

In his sixth year of coaching at Juniata, Bill Smaltz turned in his finest job and upon his shoulders rests the majority of the credit for the season's success. A graduate of Penn State, he was an outstanding back for the Blue and White team in the early forties. Assisting Smaltz were Bill Scott, former Juniata graduate, and Dick Young, Indian quarterback for the past three seasons. The team this year featured no outstanding stars. Segalovich led in total offense; Wampler in rushing; McNeal called the signals; Muchoney, Wagoner, Svitil, and Conley, to name a few, played brilliantly in the line. It can honestly be said that each individual squad member contributed his all in making 1952 to greatest year in Juniata football history.

J. C. reverse develops against Moravian.

WESTMINSTER

Sept. 27 20—27

A powerful Westminster aggregation was forced to stage a last period rally to down a fighting Indian team, the score 27—20. The underdog Tribe came back from a 14—0 deficit to take a 20-14 third quarter lead on TD's by McNeal, Wampler, and Pheasant; only to have Titan quarterback Dick Banick connect with his third and fourth touchdown passes.

MORAVIAN

Oct. 4 13—7

The first night game in Juniata's history saw the Indians score in each of the first two periods and conquer Moravian 13—7. McNeal and Butler tallied for J.C. but Fran Wampler was the real running ace. The Grayhounds temporarily tied the score in the second quarter on a two yard smash by Evanko and Seagraves's placement.

HAVERFORD

Oct. 11 36—6

A Homecoming crowd roared approval as the Juniata Indians scalped Haverford 36—6 to capture their second win of the year. It seemed that Smaltzman could do no wrong as 44 men took part in the game which saw J. C. garner 36 points before the visitors were able to tally.

DICKINSON

Oct. 25 10—8

After leading from the outset on Segalovich's fieldgoal the Tribe found themselves behind 7—3; as midway through the last quarter, the Red Devils capitalized on a J.C. fumble. Playing their best ball of the season, the Indians staged an eleventh hour TD drive with Segalovich passing to Martin for the score. The capacity Parent's Day throng went wild as the final gun sounded.

SUSQUEHANNA

Nov. 1 12—7

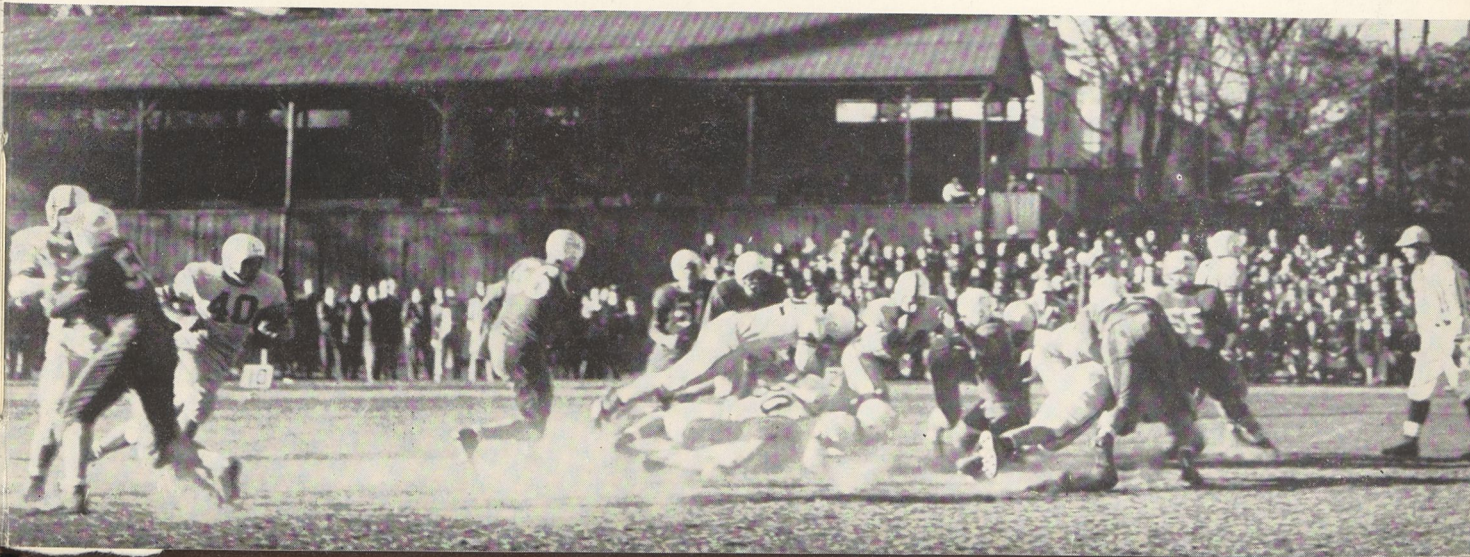

It appeared that there were more J. C. fans in attendance than Crusader rooters on this November afternoon at Selinsgrove, Pa. Scoring twice in the third period, the Indians overcame a 7—0 Susquehanna halftime lead to win 12—7. Intercepting Dick Young's pass, Joe Trimmer returned 44 yards to set up Juniata's second six pointer.

GROVE CITY

Nov. 8 7—0

Favored to score their fifth straight win, the Indians waited until the closing minute to defeat a stubborn Grove City Team 7—0. In the dying seconds Ed Mohny intercepted a Wolverine pass to set up the lone touchdown made by Tony Segalovich. Again the fine defensive play enabled Juniata to come through victorious.

URSINUS

7—0

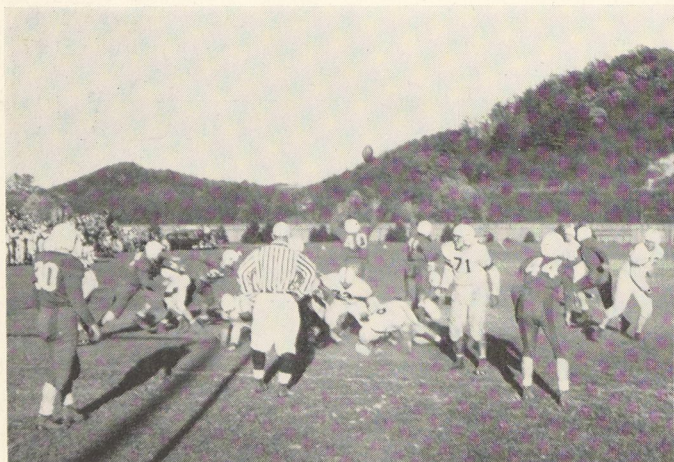

After a scoreless first half, Vince Piazza returned the second half kickoff 80 yards to the enemy 11. Four plays later McNeal crashed over to ice Juniata's sixth consecutive triumph. The Ursinus boys never had a chance in a game played in a continuous downpour.

LEBANON VALLEY

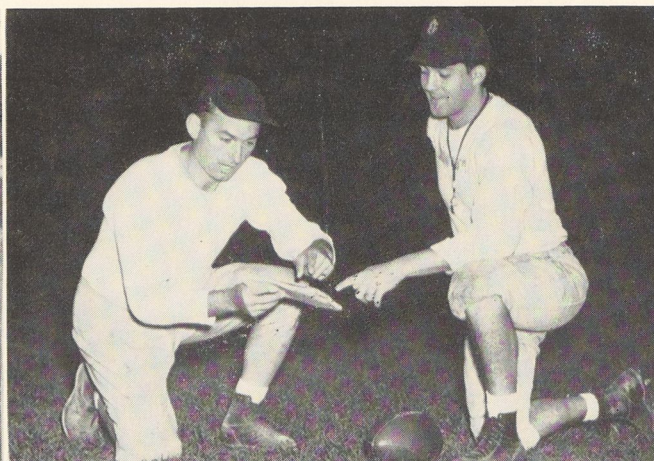

Nov. 22

6—13

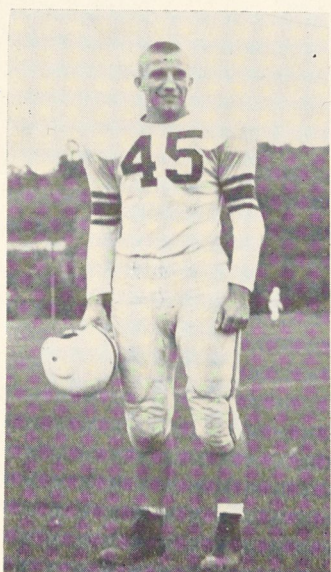

Playing in the rain and mud for the second straight week, the Indians fell before L. V., 13—6. Juniata had several opportunities to score but was able to cross the goal line only once on Ed Mohney's 2 yard plunge. The Valley tallied on an eight yard pass and a 61 yard run.

ANTHONY SEGALOVICH

One of the team's versatile performers, Tony has played wingback, defensive halfback, end, and tailback in his four years at Juniata. This senior from McKees Rocks, Pa., led the team in total offensive with 456 yards and in scoring with 31 points.

ROBERT WAGONER

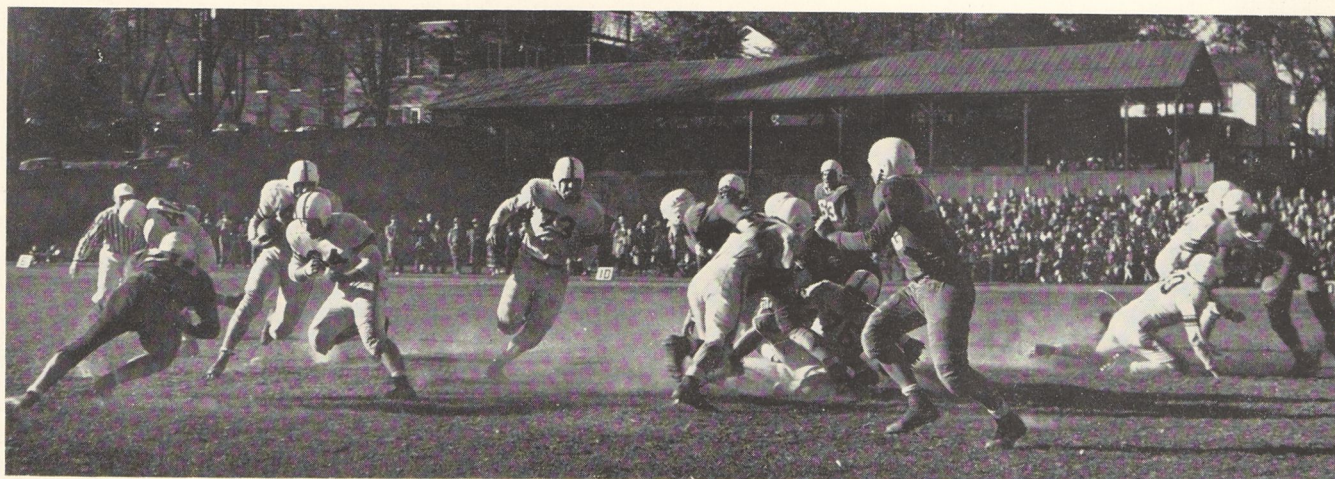

Hailing from Johnstown, Pa., Bob was the only four letter winner on the squad. Off the gridiron on which he played both offensive and defensive end, Wagoner served as president of the Student Senate, president of his class for 2 years, and was elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

ROBERT MUCHONEY

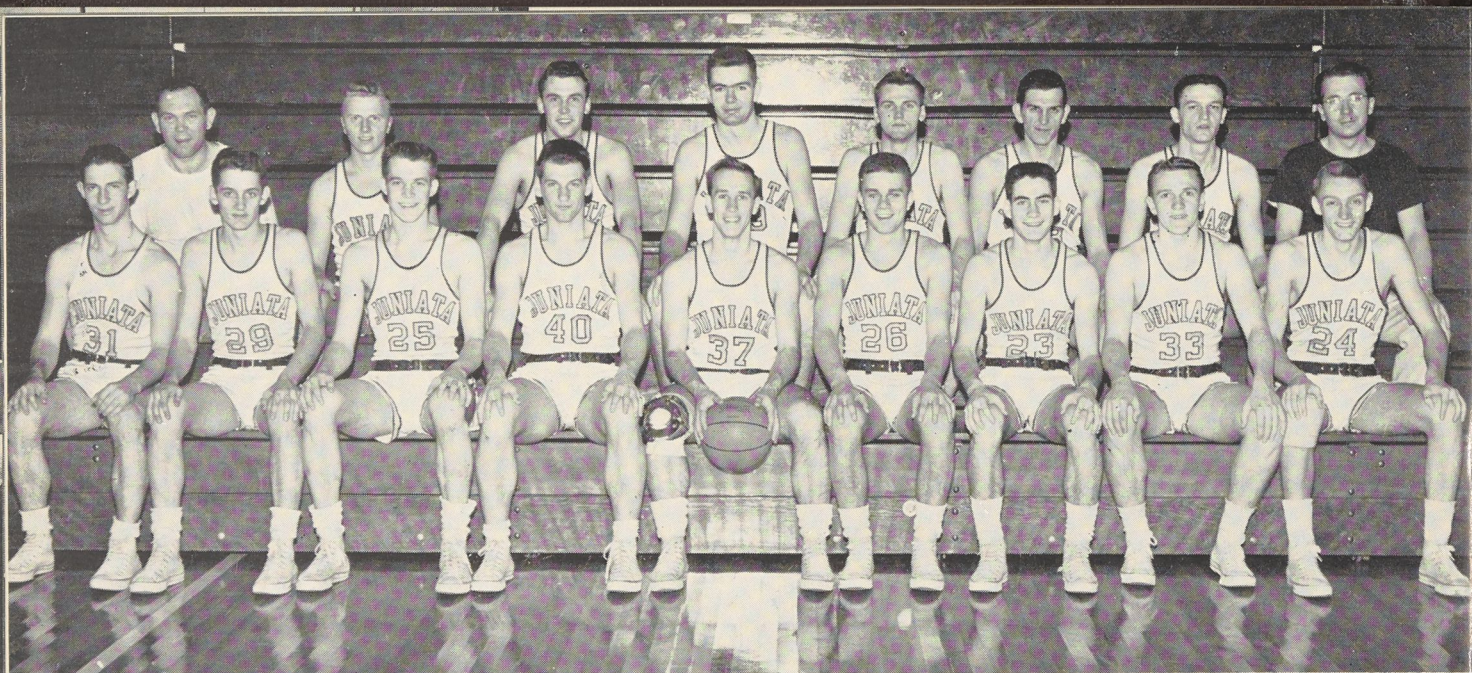

As one of the four squad-captains of the 1952 Indians, Bob performed at guard offensively and defensively. A leg injury in the Susquehanna game sidelined him for two successive Saturdays but he recovered to play against L. V. From Greensburg, Pa., Muchoney was selected to head the J-Club during the past year.

DAVID LEFEVRE

Playing as both a center and linebacker, Lefevre came closer to being a 60 minute man than anyone on his team. Teaming with junior Ron Clapper, Dave provided Juniata with one of its greatest linebacking combinations. This 168 lb. senior comes from Hanover, Pa.

DR. T. ARNOLD GREENE
Head Coach

The Juniata College Indians of 1952 - 53 compiled their best record in seven seasons as the freshman dominated squad ended up with a 9 - 11 record. However, the team was particularly outstanding for its record-breaking performances during the season in which they established seven new marks.

In Coach "Doc" Greene's fourth year at the helm of the varsity cagers the inexperienced ball club showed exceptional promise for the future. Although having only one returning letterman in the person of Captain Dave Pollock, the Braves showed flashes of great ball playing, especially in the last game of the season when they rallied in the final period to seriously scare the highly touted Lebanon Valley quintet before falling 83 - 81.

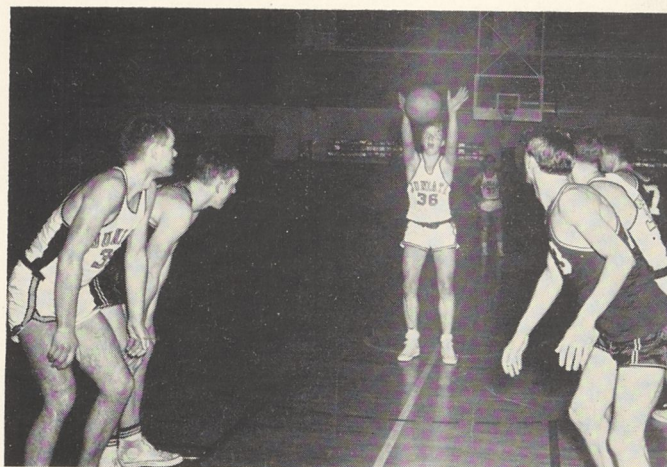

Heading the list of records is the new mark of 1434 points scored by the Indians in the twenty games for a 71.7 point average, another new record. In individual scoring, Jake Handzelek far surpassed two Juniata marks by tallying an all-time high of 473 points and establishing a 23.7 average per game.

A fifth record was established by Pollock when he became the first man in Juniata's 49 seasons of basketball to score more than 300 points in two successive seasons. He tallied 301 this year after dumping 304 in 1951-52. The other two records which were established were made when Lebanon Valley overpowered the Tribe early in the season by 116-75. The 116 points was a new high for opponents while the total of 191 for the two teams was also a new mark.

A third member of the Indians 6' 6" Walt Vanderbush scored 263 points during the campaign to end up with a 13.2 average. Handling the rebounding duties were Vanderbush, Tory Froisland, Chuck Gross, all freshmen, and Herb Halkovich, a transfer senior, while good reserve strength was provided by Howie Kerstetter, George O'Brien, Bernie Oriss, and Lee Hallman.

The Indians opened the campaign at home by defeating a strong Ursinus five 88-77. However, in a road trip to Bucknell the Tribe lapsed for one quarter to fall 76-73. They upped their log the next week by downing Indiana State Teachers 83-69. The Braves then suffered a three game losing streak by losing to Lebanon Valley 116-75 and to Lycoming twice 74-70 and 97-74. The season record was again brought up to .500 by a two game splurge which downed Elizabethtown 68-63 and Susquehanna 69-45. Albright turned back the locals 66-56 before another two game splurge when J. C. downed Elizabethtown 62-49 and then set back Lock Haven Teachers 76-62.

A disastrous western tour found the Braves losing two games, one to powerful Geneva 97-66 and one to Grove City 75-67. The cagers then embarked on their longest streak of the season as they downed Shippensburg 75-68, Susquehanna 73-61, and in one of their best games of the season they downed Dickinson 77-66.

The season ended on a doleful note as the Tribe lost the last four contests. A strong Franklin and Marshall five won 79-58, Westminster rallied to score 77-65, Indiana Teachers upset the Tribe 88-85, and NCAA-bound Lebanon Valley was nearly upset but rallied with a score of 83-81.

The Tribe JVs ended the season with a 12-6 count. Sparked by Jack Golden, George O'Brien, Bernie Oriss, Lee Hallman, Herb Law, and Jim Boulton, the little Indians showed great promise for the future. Golden lead the team in scoring with 242 points for 17 games while O'Brien had the best average with 15.4 in 10 games.

The JVs compiled their 12-6 log with two victories over both the Penn State Altoona Center and Lebanon Valley, one win over Dickinson, the Franklin and Marshall frosh, Shippensburg, the Sunbury Y.M.C.A., while splitting two with the Indiana Teachers, Lycoming, Elizabethtown, and Pitt Johnstown Center, and losing one to each the Bucknell frosh and an intramural all-star squad.

Over the season the squad downed 1105 points for a 65 point average.

Baseball

Enjoying the best season since 1947, the 1952 edition of the Juniata College Varsity Baseball team compiled a record of ten wins in fourteen games with a six game winning streak.

Coach Bill Smaltz chose letterman Tommy Green, Ed Feldkircher, and Earl Detrick along with freshman Ken Mummah for the mound chores while Captain Jack Dickey, outfielders Fran Zimmerman and Tom McNeal, infielders Duke Schetrompf and Bob Simon rounded out the rest of the lettermen. Also found on the team opening day were Harold Gray, Joe Hinish, Wes Lingenfelter, Ken Leonard, Fred Hamor, Dave Hackett, Remle Grove, and Joe Veto.

The Indians started the season with a close 4-3 loss to Albright but followed up with six straight victories. The first was a thrilling 11-10 victory over Lebanon Valley. Outstanding in the win were Joe Hinish with three hits, one of which was a home run, and the fine relief pitching of Earl Detrick. Frostburg State Teachers College fell by the wayside 15-3 as did Elizabethtown 9-5 for the Indians' second and third wins. The booming bats of Schetrompf, Lingenfelter, and Simon paced the Indians' attack. The Tribe then won numbers four and five by dropping Lycoming College 8-0 and Indiana State Teachers College 7-5. The Susquehanna Crusaders provided some stiff competition before they became the Indians' sixth victim 8-7 in eleven innings. Duke Schetrompf's sharp single with Tom Green aboard provided the margin of victory while Earl Detrick starred as relief pitcher allowing the Crusaders only one run in seven innings.

winning streak with a 6-4 victory. Five of the Teachers' six runs came in the first two innings but after that pitcher Ed Feldkircher settled down and pitched effective ball. The bridge was too much to gap and the Braves' last inning rally fell short by two runs. Juniata also lost the next tilt 8-5 to Dickinson on costly errors.

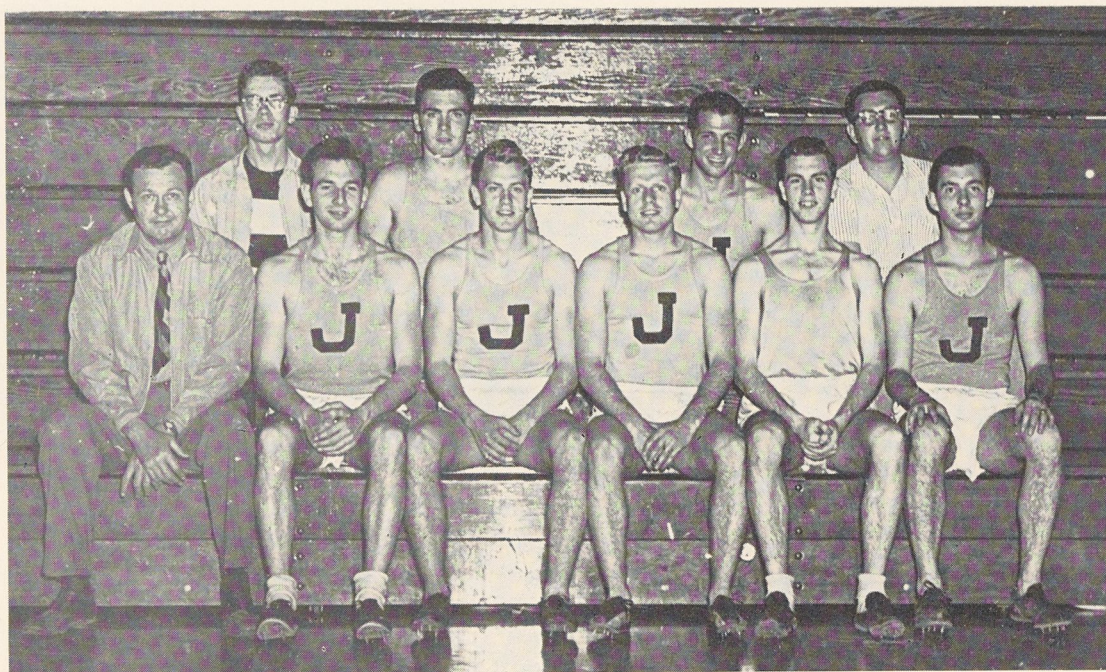

With the aid of Joe Hinisch's second home run of the year the Indians won a wild 17-10 victory over Lock Haven State Teachers College. Other stars included Wes Lingenfelter with three hits, Duke Schetrompf with two, and Ken Mummah in the relief pitching role. The Indians then made it two in a row by staging a four run rally in the top of the ninth to take the measure of Susquehanna for the second time 5-2.

Bucknell came the closest to shutting out the Indians by winning a 2-1 tilt. The Braves' bats rapped out the Indians only six hits with Wes Lingenfelter receiving credit for two and Joe Hinisch one, that being his third round tripper.

Juniata then bounced back to take Lebanon Valley for the second time 11-1 and in the last game of the season shutout Elizabethtown 7-0.

First row: Coach Snider, P. Norris, G. Rothenberger, J. Rothenberger, W. Norris, R. Hausman.

Track

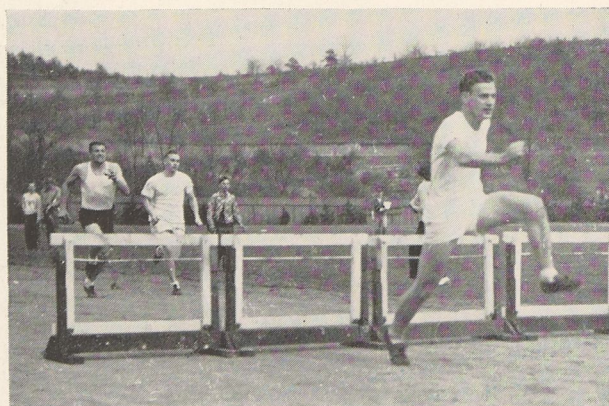

Although, throughout the years, Juniata's track teams have won more than they have lost, the last few seasons have seen them drop more than their share. The 1952 season was no exception as the Indians recorded a 1-3 record in dual competition and finished third behind Bucknell and Gettysburg in a triangular meet.

The Cindermen opened the season on April 23, losing to Dickinson 87½-38½. Six days later Shippensburg S.T.C. downed the tribe 82½-43½. Following the triangular meet the men from J.C.

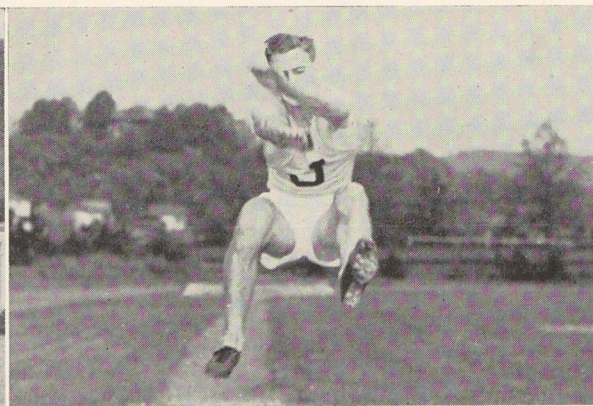

fell before Albright 81-44. However, the Indians ended the year on a winning meet by downing Lebanon Valley 67-57.

Freshman Gene Rothenberger led the team in total points scored. Twenty-five of his forty-nine points were accumulated in the broad jump while he also picked up eighteen in the low hurdles, Jack Rothenberger, the winner of the Gehrett track award, followed his brother with a total of thirty-five points.

Golf

While not compiling a record comparable to that of past years, the Juniata golf team under the direction of Dr. Edgar Kiracofe can still boast that they are their college's "winningest" intercollegiate sports team. Acknowledging last year's record of 5 wins and 3 losses in dual competition, the cumulative record for the Indians since the sport's inauguration six years ago stands at 41 wins in 49 outings, losing 7 and tying 1.

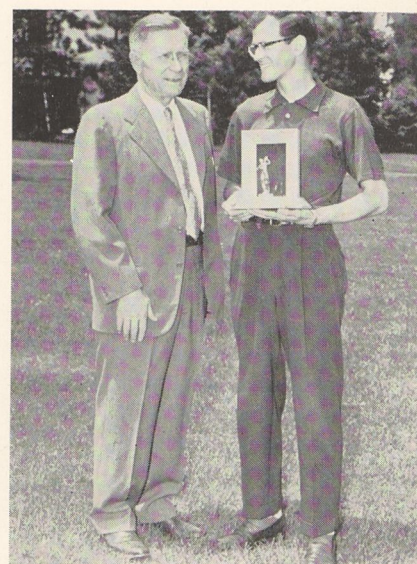

Led by the captain and number one man, Art Allen, the team received its worst defeat and only shutout ever administered to a Juniata golf team when they were blanked by the University of Pittsburgh golfers, 0-5, at the Shannapin Country Club on April 8. On the 18th., the Indians bowed once more, this time to a fine Rutgers team, 11½-3½. The next team on the schedule was Dickinson. The boys from Carlisle were easily trounced, 6-1 on the home links.

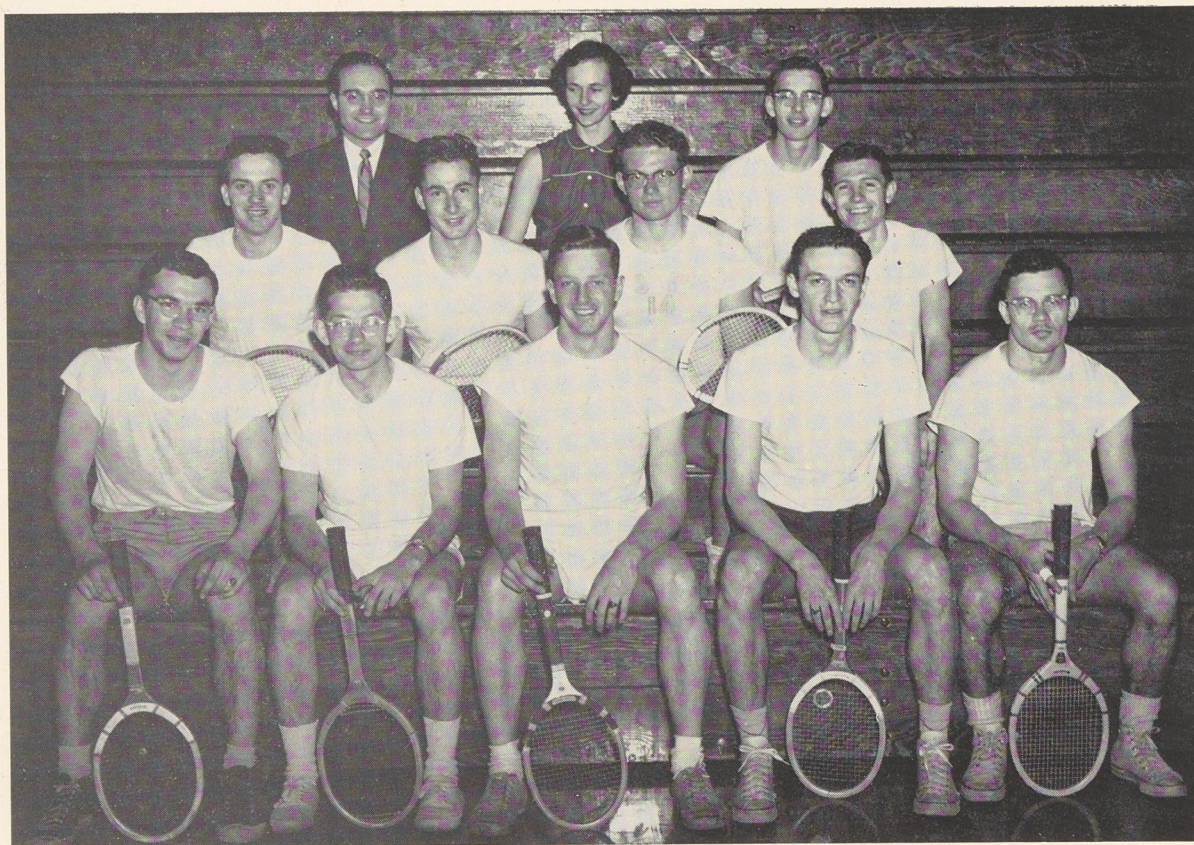

The Indians acknowledged the month of May by easily topping Bucknell 7-2 on the home course. Three days later the team traveled to Dickinson to annex another win and this time by the one-sided score of 9-0. Returning to the Huntingdon Country Club, the Tribe again won easily over John Hopkins 6-1.

The next day, however, was the highlight of Juniata's golf campaign, for on that day the foursome of Tom Sanders, Tom Cherok, Frank Arasin, and Captain Art Allen journeyed to the American Legion Country Club in Mt. Union and proudly defended their third annual 36 hole Juniata College Invitational crown by firing a 637.

A week later at the Western Maryland Tourney The Indians did not fare so well as they were humbled by three strokes by the University of Maryland golfers. Captain Allen, however, was medalist for the event.

Tennis

The 1952 season was one of the bleakest in Juniata's tennis history. Playing an eight match schedule (nine had been arranged but rain washed out the second Lycoming match) the Indians went down in eight defeats. Four times the Juniata's were shut out and twice they managed to win only one point. The white-washes were administered by Elizabethtown, Bucknell, Penn State and Ursinus while the tribe was able to score once against Dickinson and Elizabethtown in a return match. The brightest spot in J.C.'s record was the 5-4 loss to Lycoming.

The Indian netmen were more successful in double competition, picking up five of their eight points in that column. Captain Jim Marr was accredited with three of these wins while John Potteiger followed closely with two. Other men who participated in gathering Juniata's score were Bob Keim, Bob Rauch, Nick Bruno, and Bob Frain. In the singles competition, Bruno, Keim, and Dick Bowker were the only Juniata's to score wins.

In addition to the above mentioned players the squad included Phil Kulp, Bob Brumbaugh, Jim Pftzinger and Charles Mills.

Intramural Sports

The intramural division is one of the most successful components of the Juniata athletic program. By their nature the varsity squads are open only to those of superior ability but the intramurals, on the other hand, give all an opportunity to participate. The intramural program which is under the direction of the Chairman of Athletics and the President of the W.A.A. is intended to supplement the compulsory physical education requirements of the freshman year.

Basketball is the most successful part of the intramural program, with more students participating in this phase than any other. The 1952-53 season saw the boy's league operate with fourteen teams while the girl's circuit included eleven squads.

Hockey closely rivals basketball in importance for the girls. Their season was climaxed by the Army-Navy All Star Game. The so-called weaker sex also sponsored a softball program.

Softball ranks second with regard to participation for the men. Men also take part in six man touch football, tennis, and track under intramural sanction.

Student Council

A dream in the minds of Juniatians for many years is now becoming a reality. By the fall term of 1953 the basement of the Women's Gymnasium will be completely renovated into a building long needed on this campus—a Student Center!

The actual beginning of this work sprang from Leadership Conference last fall, when the Senate appointed Russ Hill to investigate the possibility of a Student Center in the unused basement of the Old Gym. With the help of Mr. Fike, Dr. Crosby, Mr. Hamm the architect from York, Mr. White an interior decorator from New York, a committee of students, and a group of trustees, plans progressed rapidly. On the first of March after a lively kick-off assembly, over 300 students appeared for work with shovels, axes, picks, and hammers. After four busy weeks the gym was ready for skilled laborers to move in.

Not only are the students furnishing manual labor for this project, but also $5,000 has been promised by the students which will be raised through the Women's Leagues, the Alumni, and the Parents.

The students on our campus feel proud of their accomplishment. As one drops in for a cup of coffee, mail from home, textbooks, or just a "psychological break," he feels that he is a real part of this hard-earned product—Our Student Center!

Mountain Day

October 15, 1952 found the teachers and students of Juniata College enjoying a peaceful, carefree day among the beautiful autumn colors at Whipple's Dam. During the morning ambitious students and faculty hiked around the dam and through the mountains. Following the picnic lunch many engaged in touch football, volley ball, canoeing, and other recreation.

Curtain Call

"My Maryland"

Rebel yells and strains of "Dixie" reverberated in Oller Hall this year as the music department and interested students prepared Sigmund Romberg's "My Maryland." The rehearsals began eight weeks previous to the productions which were held November 14-15, 1952. Professor Donald Johnson, a veteran of operetta productions, expertly directed cast and chorus in songs while his wife ably drilled the clever dance steps and chorus movements. Miss Miriam Dickey, a newcomer to the faculty, served as a capable dramatic coach. Rehearsals for the twenty-two piece orchestra were under the skillful supervision of Professor Jack Brammer. Jo Pentz, a senior, fulfilled the difficult position of student co-ordinator.

The success of "My Maryland" can be attributed to the harmony and perfection among the cast, chorus, and orchestra. However, without the superb action and singing of the two leads, Helen Rosengren and Ben Newcomer, and the delightful rib-tickling tactics of the comics, Harold Bowser, Barbara Grim, and Betti Brumbaugh, the caliber of the show would not have been as great.

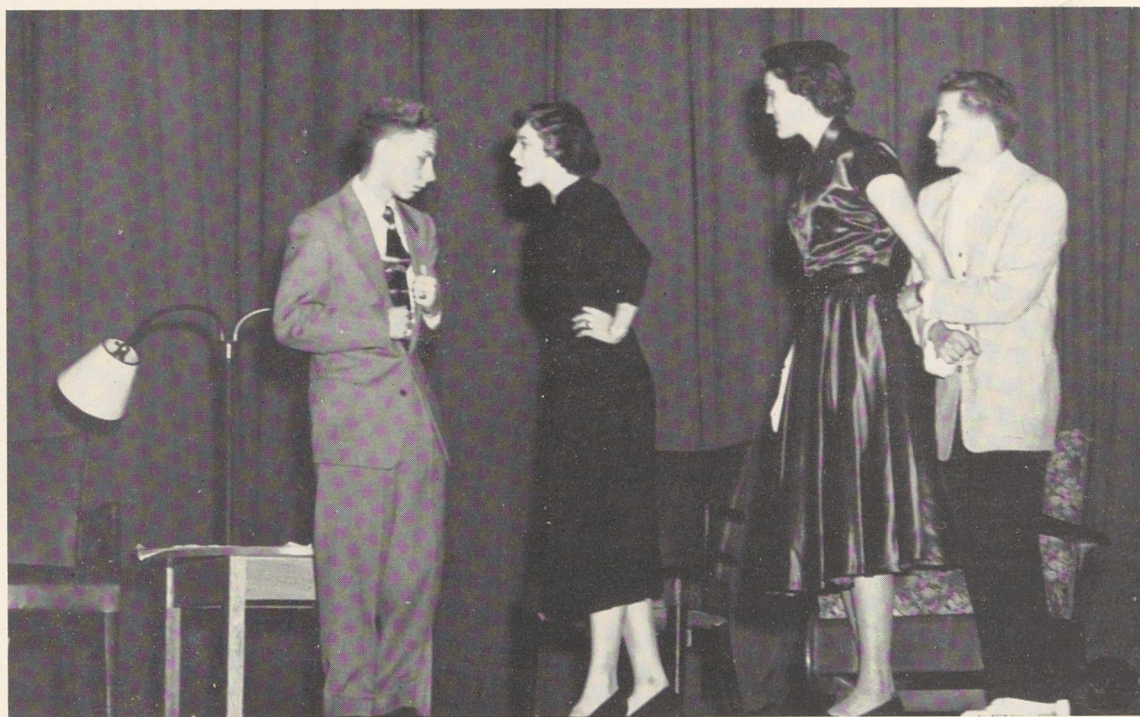

In addition to providing experience for those who participated and enjoyment for those who watched, "My Maryland" benefited JWSF with its proceeds.

All Class Night

The idea of All Class Night was born on February 26, 1938 and the purpose was to stimulate competition between classes and awaken student creative ability. This purpose was accomplished as class members worked together to perfect a 20 minute skit this year. Also, through participation students discovered their liking for dramatics and became interested in helping with major college productions.

The Seniors presented "Sic Eunt Fata Hominum" in which a lawyer, George Marcus, dreamed that he was Pluto, the judge of the underworld. Characters such as Little Bo Peep, Cleopatra, and Nero were tried for their crimes on earth by Pluto and the other gods and goddesses. The Junior class presented a modern version of Homer's classic epic in "The Modern Odyssey." Penelope Longgone, who remained faithful to her husband during the twenty years that he was away on a feuding party, recognized him on his return to Kentucky by the ability to shoot into a bucket a mile away. The Sophomores' contribution this year was "The Playwright and the Angel," a fantastic tale of how a guardian angel inspired the writing of a play. The third Freshman class to present a winning skit came forth this year with a story about a social climber who hired a genealogist to trace her ancestry from the Stone Age to the present in "And Then There Are Ancesters."

Many interesting features were found in the skits; the divided stage, flashbacks, and looks into the world past and beyond gave variety to the skits. The 16th annual production of its kind, All Class Night of December 6, 1952 proved to be very successful and entertaining.

Spring Festival

A prelude to the Spring Festival activities was the May Day breakfast, when the Queen and her court were revealed. The college dining hall was completely transformed into an outdoor garden with a large May Pole in the center and a flower-covered throne. Dancers who unwound the festive pole found the name of the Queen-to-be, Norma Sinclair, hidden among the streamers. In keeping with Leap Year, the Queen chose her own Prince Charming, John Gates. Queen

Norma's attendants were revealed by the unwinding of the small decorative poles on each table. Her Maid of Honor was Mim Smith; the senior attendants were Mary Lou McKee and Sarah Keller. The other attendants were Phyllis Link and Mickey Monks, juniors; Ruth March and Audrey Weber, sophomores; Donna Croft and Anna Lee Over, freshmen. All wore ankle length, pastel dresses for the coronation ceremonies.

May tenth was the date set to herald officially the coming of Spring. A beautiful backdrop was arranged in front of Oller Hall, but a heavy torrent of rain persuaded the committees to remove all the decorations to the gym where the festivities took place. The throne was erected at one end of the Memorial Gym and a large May Pole was placed at the other end. Entertainment was provided by the orchestra and the A Cappella choir. A Gay Nineties group sang a version of "Bicycle Built for Two," complete with bicycles. Portraying Little Bo Peep in a dance, was Mitzi Osborne with girls dressed as her mischievous sheep. On the athletic side, Clem Rosenberger and two foreign friends from Penn State staged a gymnastic exhibition.

The idea of a Spring Festival was carried over from the year before. Queen Norma and Prince John reigned over the affair and awarded the Lambda Gamma the prize for the best booth. Displays which were made by the various clubs and are usually sprinkled over the campus were moved into the larger buildings. Despite the rain that prevailed during the week end the campus had a festive air. Events of May Day were climaxed by the Junior-Senior Reception which was held in the new gym that had been decorated with spring flowers.

"The Importance of Being Earnest"

This year the Masque again undertook the production of an arena type play. This style in which the audience sits on the stage surrounding the players permits close contact between actors and audience. The play, Oscar Wilde's light and gay comedy—"The Importance of Being Earnest" —was especially suited to this method of production. The witty lines and Victorian atmosphere and setting were a great change from last year's "Romeo and Juliet." Having a wide appeal, the play was very well received on each of its ten performances.

And what is a kiss, when all is done?
 A promise given under seal—a vow
 Taken before the shrine of memory—
 A signature acknowledged—a rosy dot
 Over the i of Loving—a secret whispered
 To listening lips apart—a moment made
 Immortal, with a rush of wings unseen—
 A sacrament of blossoms, a new song
 Sung by two hearts to an old simple tune—
 The ring of one horizon around two souls
 Together, all alone!

—Rostand

The formal social activities at Juniata are supervised in a general way by the Social Committee. They range from formal dances through class parties, feature movies in Oller Hall, attendance at athletic contests, square dances, and a moonlight hike on Saturday nights to short informal dances during the week.

More informally there are long walks on Sunday afternoons over Lion's Back or back along the cliffs, evenings at the movies, snacks at Skip's or KaVee and finally saying good-night in the bell tower.

We who have worked on the 1952 edition of the Alfarata have thoroughly enjoyed the experience even when, on the nights before deadlines, the going got a little rough. We hope you of the student body enjoy the results of our efforts. I, personally, as editor would like to thank all those who helped make this Alfarata possible.

To Our Advertisers

The publication of a small college yearbook such as ours would not be possible without the cooperation and interests of the businesses closely associated with our college community. We sincerely appreciate the part they have played in bringing our book to reality. On behalf of the Alfarata and the students we wish to extend our thanks to each advertiser.

NOTHING TAKES THE PLACE OF INSURANCE

Without it there can be no confidence that the College would continue. Without it you cannot plan for an investment in a home or business. Or without it you wouldn't drive or own a car.

Since 1907 this Company founded by W. Emmert Swigart, a Juniata Alumnus, and guided since by Juniata graduates has served the College and Alumni with Quality Insurance at a saving.

It would be to your advantage to inquire for the SWIGART representative in your community.
